Welcome to a world of unparalleled luxury and adventure aboard Vayus, a brand new masterpiece crafted by Ocean King in Italy. Built in 2023 at the esteemed Venice shipyard, Vayus unites sophistication and style with seaworthiness and comfort thanks to its latest technology and its steel hull, a characteristic that is unique in yachts of this size. Vayus' sporty exterior profile is matched with the technical characteristics of an explorer yacht, complemented with the interiors of ultra luxury Italian craftsmanship. These characteristics resulted in Vayus being nominated as the finalist for the World Superyacht Awards for 2023.

Special Features:

Characterized by a steel hull and aluminium superstructure and an 8.5 meters beam, Vayus is characterized by spaces and volumes (358 GT) commonly found on much larger yachts. The use of steel as (opposed to fiberglass) allowed to create wider, taller uninterrupted spaces with huge floor-to-ceiling windows while at the same time allowing unique levels of stability, comfort, safety and seaworthiness.

The Design:

The design of the yacht was focused on the continuous connection between indoor and outdoor spaces, avoiding the presence of completely enclosed ones. This resulted in a completely openable yacht that is flooded with natural light and breeze, where guests can enjoy the sea both from the outside as well as from within.

The general arrangement is distributed across four decks taking advantage of the 358 GT and 8.5m beam of the yacht. The layout guarantees complete separation between crew and guest areas, the latter characterized by four cabins in the lower deck and a full-beam master cabin on the main deck. The external design of Vayus, penned by Italian studio VYD, is characterized by a muscular yet harmonious profile characterized by a vertical bow and sporty lines applied to an explorer concept.

With its powerful yet elegant lines, Vayus offers 250 square meters of open spaces and 250 square meters of internal spaces. The whole design of the yacht was carefully tailored by VYD, going from the inside out, perfecting and optimizing the general arrangement to ensure the yacht is rich, balanced, and easy to enjoy. The solidity of the structures and the use of over dimensioned components is blended with a hull and superstructure that is sculpted in refined shapes, resulting in a yacht that is imposing yet extremely elegant and sophisticated.

From a technical perspective, Vayus offers the solidity and sturdiness of a 7,500nm explorer yacht complemented by a very delicate and sophisticated “skin” of colors and luxurious materials with an impressive attention to details.

From its over dimensioned technical components, large beam, solidity of the steel hull and height of the decks, everything about this vessel feels significantly more solid than similarly sized yachts. Particular attention has been paid to the yacht’s stability while sailing or at anchor as well as sound and vibration insulation, which results in engines practically not being audible in the wheelhouse while sailing.

Onboard Comfort & Entertainment:

Vayus has been built with comfort and entertainment in mind. The yacht’s huge spaces and volumes are flooded with natural light and are characterized by luxurious, yet sober, Italian taste. The modern and elegant lines and the use of luxury materials such as leather and alcantara are blended together with an incredible level of attention to detail.

From an entertainment perspective, Vayus offers unique features for yachts of this size, including:

- Two Pools: one large (3.2m X 2.2m) saltwater pool located in the beach club, one freshwater heatable pool located on the sundeck offering unlimited relaxation possibilities
- Cinema Room & Sky Lounge: expansive sky lounge that can be completely opened on all three sides, offering incredible flexibility of being in direct contact with the sea while remaining in a protected space. The lighting project of Vāyus is focused on soft, indirect light applied multidimensionally across the sophisticated shapes of the yacht. Only the highest quality products have been used using antiglare technology. The dimmerable capabilities of the system allows for a variety of scenarios to be available, ensuring the optimal mood for every occasion. The yacht includes underwater lights
- Starlink Internet Connectivity: Vayus is equipped with Starlink internet service, ensuring continuous hi-speed connectivity while at sea throughout the yacht and cabins
- At-Anchor Stabilization System: Vayus large beam and sturdy steel hull is made even more stable thanks to a stabilization system active both at anchor and while sailing

Other features include a fully openable large saloon with sofas and a dining table for 10, lounge area at the bow with sunpads, state of the art wheelhouse with sofas, fully equipped industrial grade kitchen and kitchenette.

From an accommodation perspective, Vayus welcomes up to 10 guests in 5 lavish suites, including a full-beam master cabin, two VIP cabins and two double Guest cabins. The master cabin is flooded with natural light thanks to its full-beam windows and it includes a separate walk-in closet, office space and a huge bathroom with for him and for her appliances.

All guest cabins and bathrooms are rich in natural light thanks to large, elongated windows that follow the outline of the yacht and offer oversized beds (1.0X2.0m and 1.6X2.0m). All cabins include large TVs and independent sound systems and are furnished with hotel-quality linens from Italian brand Beltrami.

The layout of the yacht ensures complete separation between crew and guest areas, with a crew of 6 professionals available to satisfy the necessities of the guests.

From a finishings standpoint, all furniture has been studied by a dedicated Italian internal design studio, focusing on sophisticated yet clean and sober pieces, materials and colour palettes. Only brands of the highest quality have been used, including Royal Botania, Poliform, Manutti, and Cattelan. All hotel-grade linen products have been custom made from Italian brand Beltrami.

Vayus is characterized by the application of high quality and “oversized” components paired with craftsmanship and materials of the highest quality. Some examples of these oversized components include the size of the oval handrails used throughout the yacht, the height and thickness of the teak and stairs, the size of the doors and their latches and the dimensions of the bollards and winches and other technical components.

Examples attention to detail and materials include the choices and pairing of woods, the leather and alcantara panels and inserts with visible stitching and the quality of the finishings.
